The Romanian Congress of Toxicology with international participation
2nd Edition

Safety of xenobiotics and human health, present challenges

3 - 4 November 2017, Bucharest, Romania

The 2nd Edition of The Romanian Congress of Toxicology with international participation is a scientific manifestation consisting of a series of plenary conferences, oral communications and posters, which will bring out the latest toxicology research and will offer a wide range of opportunities to enrich the participants' professional experience.

The format of the event is intended to be as comprehensive as possible, aiming to highlight the role of toxicology in linking concepts and information on the safety of using numerous xenobiotics and their impact on human health; at the same time, the event encourages the effective communication and exchange of experiences between specialists in the domain of toxicology and from different related research fields.

The organizing committee intends to complement other traditional scientific manifestations in the medical area that address both toxicologists and colleagues from the pharmaceutical, medical (preclinical and clinical), psychology, legislative fields.

The event is organized under the aegis of the Toxicology Section (affiliated to EUROTOX) of the Romanian Society for Pharmaceutical Sciences and it is credited by the Romanian College of Pharmacists, Romanian College of Physicians and the Romanian College of Psychologists.

The Pharmacist-Physician Collaboration: the pathway to establish more effective therapeutic protocols

16 – 18 November 2017, Bucharest, Romania

The 10th Edition of the Romanian Pharmaceutical Conference will be organized under the aegis of the Romanian Pharmacists Association, the Romanian Medical Association and the Romanian Society of Pharmaceutical Sciences.

The event will take place at Crystal Palace Ballroom in Bucharest and aims to enhance the information dissemination based on new communication channels in programmes dedicated to the prevention of diseases as an essential approach to reduce the cost of illness.

The conference programme will be structured on several topics as follows:

- State of the art treatments
- Up to date pharmaceutical dosage forms
- Polypill – where to go?
- Original versus Generic
- Drug interactions
- Current regulations on prescription drugs
- Counterfeit drugs - a public health problem

The scientific papers will be presented in dedicated workshops and symposia and presented as lectures, oral presentations or posters.
